Horrible Disease.

[illegible] many thousands of persons, both male and female, [illegible] who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from disease infused into the system! Look at their pale, disfigured faces and their broken [illegible] for the happiness of [illegible] In this horrid [illegible] until death closes the scene. Let [illegible] friends, attend to those who are suffering with these horrible life-destroying maladies [illegible] cured for and cured before it be too late [illegible] immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made this his especial study for years and who cures the most inveterate cases without using any injurious drugs. It is important to [illegible] afflicted, or to those who are interested in [illegible] their friends, to be careful of the many [illegible] who infest all cities, publishing [illegible] in a few days, imp[illegible] using the names of eminent physicians [illegible] and other places. He therefore cautions [illegible] you may fall into the [illegible]

[illegible] convicts this morning seized a powder boat, overpowered the guard, rowed across the river and made their escape

The National Labor Congress assembled to-day Delegates were present from ten States also delegates from the National Typographical Society, Carpenters Joiners Bricklayers Machinists and Blacksmiths Unions, and from the Working Men's Association The object of the Convention is to institute reforms establish reciprocal relations between the different labor organizations and keep back the encroachments of centralized wealth upon the rights of labor The address of President Whaley was a very able document, reviewing the progress of the laboring classes for the past year, and foretelling their progress and strength for the future

Congressional

WASHINGTON Sept 21 —The House was called to order at 11 o'clock Prayer was offered by the Chaplain Schenck offered a resolution that the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House now adjourn their respective houses until the 16th of October and then unless otherwise ordered that they further adjourn their respective houses to the first Monday in December This was carried without division and afterwards reconsidered

Schenck then offered a resolution that the Committee on Public Expenditures enquire why the Supervisors of Internal Revenue have not been appointed and whether any officers of the Government are trying to defeat the law, etc This was objected to and the question raised that no business can be done without a quorum The roll was then called showing ninety eight affirmatives and two nays as the vote

Washburne then moved a call of the House which was taken and the absentees were called After some little time the doors were opened and a message was read that the Senate had concurred with the House adjournment resolution The Speaker then declared the House adjourned till the 16th of October

In the Senate after prayer Anthony offered a resolution providing for adjournment in the same terms as that adopted by the House The resolution was adopted—33 to 1 Buckalew voting no A message from the House announced a similar resolution which was concurred in and the Senate adjourned

State Fairs.

CHICAGO Sept 21 — The Illinois State Fair commenced to-day at Quincy The show of horses cattle and stock generally is better than ever before; in agricultural implements not so good The other departments were about an average display The weather at the start is very unpromising but the attendance is good

The Ohio State Fair at Toledo is said to be the largest and best exhibition ever held in the State The stock department is very largely represented with the best animals of Ohio and neighboring States The agricultural implements department is also full Farm products are very abundant—the weather is fine

Homicide in Nevada

GENOA Sept 22 —A shooting affair occurred about 1 o'clock this afternoon at Van Sickle's Station two miles south of Genoa, in which one Thomas Griffith was shot by George Wegestein It seems that the parties were discussing politics yesterday upon which occasion Griffith a Democrat applied abusive epithets to Gen Grant and all who fought under him and particularly abusing Wegestein who meeting him again to-day requested Griffith to retract the abusive language of yesterday, so far as related to himself personally Griffith refused to retract and proposed to fight it out and started for a shotgun standing in the corner of the room but Wegestein succeeded in getting the gun whereupon Griffith made a motion as if in the act of drawing a weapon, when Wegestein fired the charge taking effect in the abdomen of his antagonist who lingered until about five o'clock and expired Wegestein gave himself up and is now in custody awaiting investigation

The South American Earthquakes

A letter from Callao, August 22d gives the following particulars

The earthquake of which we advised you by last mail is probably the most dreadful and terrific that ever occurred in the world's history Certainly nothing approaching to the dire catastrophe of the 13th instant has ever been recorded on this continent, noted for volcanic eruptions

In Guayaquil the earthquake was felt at various times between the 13th and 16th, and another at a later date, but it did no damage The first lasted forty or fifty seconds, the direction being from east to west and the movement regular and slow It is expected that there has been immense damage done in Esmeralda.

In Ibarra Otovalo and Cotacachi almost the entire population has perished In Quito the earthquake and its effects have been proportionately less but the buildings are so much injured that the slightest movement will throw them down There are already in ruins the church and convent of San Augustine, the two churches of Senora del Carmen the towers of the Cathedral and San Marcos, the college of San Luis etc The towers of the other churches the Government palace and many private houses have been all cracked, and are momentarily threatening to fall to pieces The towns adjoining Quito as Perucho Puellaro and Cachiguari have almost entirely disappeared The number of deaths in Quito have fortunately been very small but in the other towns it is calculated that not less than 20 000 have perished The few who are left uninjured in those places have been unable to assist those remaining alive or dying under the ruins and have been obliged to fly from the stench of the dead bodies which commenced to putrify and infect the atmosphere.

ACCOUNT OF AN EYE WITNESS

The agent of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company writes from Arica Arica no longer exists At about 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the 13th we were visited with a tremendous earthquake I had barely time to get my wife and children into the street out of the way, when the whole of the walls of my fell fell is hardly the word, as they were blown out as if they were spit at me At the same time the earth opened probably two or three inches, and belched out dust accompanied with a terrible stench as of powder the air was darkened and I could not see my wife, who was within two feet of me with the children If this had lasted any time we must have suffocated but in about a couple of minutes it cleared, and collecting my household gods together I then started for the hills How we passed through fallen houses when we saw men struck down some stone dead, others maimed is to me a mystery but a merciful Providence was over us We wended our sad way as well as we could toward the hills with the earth shaking making us stagger as drunken people when a great cry went up to heaven The sea had retired I hurried on and I had barely got to the outskirts of the town when I looked back and saw all the vessels in the bay carried out irresistibly to sea probably with a speed of ten miles an hour In a few minutes the great outward current stopped, then arose a mighty wave I should judge about fifty feet high and came in with a fearful rush, carrying everything before it in its awful majesty The whole of the shipping came back with it sometimes turning in circles, but all speeding on to an inevitable doom Meanwhile the wave had passed in struck the mole into atoms swallowed up my office as a giant's mouthful and rushing on swallowing up the Custom house and rushing down the same street carried everything before it in its resistible course The remains of my dwelling house disappeared faster than the change of scene in a Christmas pantomime my launches has long since disappeared and my ruin was thus completed.

I stood breathless looking at the awful sight thanking God life had been preserved to me and my loved ones but each second was a lifetime looking seawards I saw the ships still hurrying on to their doom and in a few minutes all was completed Every vessel was either ashore or bottom upwards The Peruvian war steamer America lost about eighty five hands The United States steamer Wateree escaped with the loss of one life with a small draft of water she was carried bodily on the top of the sea and landed about a quarter of a mile inshore of the railway track The United States storeship Fredonia was bottom upwards, every soul on board perished excepting the Captain, Surgeon and Paymaster who were on shore and were saved The British bark Chanarcillo of Liverpool was lying high and dry upon the beach the remains of a hulk half of her crew perished An American bark laden with guano was swallowed up and has not left a vestige to tell her fate The last of the ill fated squadron, a Peruvian brig was placed [illegible] the railway track apparently [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] earthquake were incessant

Democratic Opinion of General Grant

Ex-Senator Nesmith is often quoted by the Lost Cause organs of this State to prove that General Grant is a drunken imbecile unfit for any official position much more for the high office to which the people now propose to elect him. These organs have given publicity to sundry remarks made by Nesmith on this subject and the Herald with infinite glee has related an anecdote which runs in this wise: A Republican asked Nesmith how he and his Democratic friends could support Frank Blair, an original Abolitionist and an old Republican, for the high office for which they have accepted him as their candidate. Nesmith answered: If you Republicans can support a drunken Democrat for the first office, we Democrats ought to be able to support a sober Republican for the second. This the Democracy thought was a very brilliant hit. A few days afterwards the Herald made allusion to it again and stated that Nesmith was fully justified in calling General Grant a "drunken Democrat," because he was intimately acquainted with him, had seen much of him at Washington and in the army and knew his habits, character and capacity thoroughly. Now since we have been told that Nesmith knows so much about General Grant, since the ex-Senator is quoted as an authority to establish the allegation respecting the General's drunkenness, his lack of ability and his unfitness for the Presidency, we take the trouble to turn to the official records to ascertain what Nesmith's opinion of Grant was before the latter became a candidate. When the bill to advance Grant to the rank of Lieutenant General was under discussion in the United States Senate (February 11, 1864,) Senator Nesmith made the following remarks:

This has been constantly treated as a resolution. It is a bill; it will be when passed an act of Congress; but whether it were a bill or resolution this Congress could do nothing derogatory from the present great attainments of Gen. Grant. General Grant's reputation rests upon something higher than mere acts of Congress. * * * I appreciate the services of General Grant. I am anxious for the passage of the bill and I am anxious Gen. Grant shall have the appointment. There is no honor I would not confer upon him. I expect myself to vote for him for President of the United States, and being willing to cast a vote of that kind, I should not be willing to do anything to-day which tended to degrade him.—Con. Globe, 1st session 38th Congress, Part I, Page 597.

Now we submit that this reads somewhat like a spontaneous compliment. Nothing is said here about a "drunken Democrat"—that delicate expression being reserved for circulation by the [illegible] organs of Oregon. The tongue of Mr Nesmith stumbled in its earnest efforts to say something which should be [illegible] of Gen. Grant. It was not even in the power of Congress to do anything "derogating from the great attainments of the [illegible] who had been chosen to lead our armies. He was fit to be President, and Nesmith fully intended to vote for him for that [illegible]. Since that time Gen. Grant has [illegible] all the armies of the Confederacy, [illegible] the rebellion, and given signal proofs of his administrative and statesmanlike ability, and yet Nesmith now goes about (so the Democratic organs inform us) calling Grant a "drunken Democrat," an imbecile and a nobody, whose elevation to the Presidency would be a disgrace to the nation and a menace to its prosperity and peace!

The renegade Doolittle, of Wisconsin, is also traversing the country repeating the same slanders against Gen. Grant, and like Nesmith, proving himself a calumniator and a falsifier by it. On the same page with Nesmith's tribute to Grant, quoted above, we find the [illegible] Doolittle recorded as saying:

I feel satisfied that we shall not make a mistake if we say that we create the office of Lieutenant General, and that General Grant is the man to fill it. For two years in succession he had done nothing but win victory—from the capture of Fort Donelson, at Grand Gulf, on Black River, at Jackson, around Vicksburg, and last and not least, at the last battle of Chattanooga, where he secured, in my opinion, forever within our military possession Eastern Tennessee. He had gained and earned, by two years military success this rank and grade, and he is the man whom the war has demonstrated to be the proper man, and which all concede has demonstrated to be the proper man next to the President, and under the President for Commander-in-Chief of our armies. A friend says he has won seventeen battles, he has captured a hundred thousand prisoners, he has taken five hundred pieces of artillery and innumerable thousands of small arms on all these fields. He has organized victory from the beginning, and I [illegible] him in a position where he can organize final victory, bring it to our armies, and put and [illegible] rebellion.

Are not Doolittle and Nesmith fine fellows to be engaged now in traducing Grant—charging him with drunkenness, and asserting that he possesses no ability whatever? But let us go further and see what Frank Blair used to say of General Grant. It will be remembered that when McClernand was sent [illegible] from the army in disgrace, he claimed that he was the man who had formed the plan for the capture of Vicksburg and that Grant had stolen it from him. The same thing was asserted in the New York Convention. Here is what Blair said of that matter in a speech at St Louis, shortly after the capture of Vicksburg:

"My friends, I know it is not entirely gracious to refer to those things in which we are ourselves interested, but you will permit me, I know, coming back from Vicksburg—the scene of our recent conquest—to say what ought to be said, and what now dwells in the heart of every officer and soldier in Grant's army, that to Major General Ulysses Grant is due the great and chief honor of those great achievements which have been performed by his army. [Loud cheers.]

"And when any ambitious and vain-glorious chieftain comes back and attempts to claim for himself the great deeds which have immortalized and ought to immortalize General Grant, the whole army of Grant, the whole army engaged in his expedition will repel the idea and will proclaim everywhere, that the leading spirit, the chief and leader of the expedition was General Grant. [Cheers.] We claim for ourselves only that we sought, with cordiality and cheerfulness, with such courage as we possessed, and with such endurance as we were endowed with, to carry on his plans, and we did so successfully."

McClernand now holds the Seymour and Blair ticket in Illinois, and one of the men whom he is expected to vote for says he is "ambitious and vain-glorious" in having attempted to detract from the great merit and abilities of General Grant. Let these men go on with their [illegible] of Grant: they only prove themselves and each other liars by it.

Among the [illegible] Senate [illegible] we notice that [illegible] has a Republican chairman. It is the Committee on Education—Chairman Herman of Douglas. Very appropriate. It is a Committee which Democrats have no use for.

LETTERS FROM THE CAPITAL

SALEM, MONDAY, Sept. 21, 1868.

A few brief paragraphs will dispose of all proceedings of interest in the Senate to-day. Mr Ford presented a petition from citizens of Umatilla asking for a law authorizing them to change the location of the county seat. The joint resolution asking Congress for $15,000 for a military road from Portland to the Dalles was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations. Mr Adams gave notice of a bill to amend the law relating to peddlers' licenses. Mr H[illegible] introduced a bill to protect owners of firearms which provides that persons owning guns [illegible] shall have the exemption from execution [illegible] process. Mr Miller introduced a bill to prevent and punish gambling. Mr Dribbelby introduced a bill to amend the law taxing [illegible] in Oregon. Mr Bayley introduced a bill to enlarge the corporate powers of the city of Corvallis. Several portions of the Governor's Message not heretofore referred were referred to the proper standing committees. The afternoon was mostly occupied in the reading of bills.

COMPLIMENTARY TO GEN. CROOK.

The following joint resolution, introduced by Mr Trevitt, was unanimously adopted by the Senate:

WHEREAS, By the energetic, gallant and soldierly conduct of Bvt. Major General Crook and troops under his command, Eastern Oregon, Idaho and Nevada have been relieved from the depredations of the hostile Snake Indians and the large extent of country which they formerly occupied (comprising more than 9,000 square miles) has been opened to peaceful settlement; therefore be it

Resolved by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon, That the thanks of this State are and hereby are tendered to Brevet Major General George Crook and officers and soldiers under his command for the skill, energy and bravery they have exhibited in prosecuting to final success this Indian war.

Resolved, That we have full measure of sympathy for the hardships, the toils and sufferings which Gen. Crook and the men under his command have endured, and we recommend our citizens in every part of the State to extend liberal hospitality to them, wherever they are found.

Resolved, That Gen. Crook is hereby respectfully invited to visit Salem during the present session of the Legislature and to be while here the guest of the State.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be directed to send a certified copy of these resolutions to Gen. Crook at his headquarters.

IN THE HOUSE—BENTON COUNTY CONTEST.

Mr Minto, from the minority of the Special Committee to whom was referred the contested case from Benton county, submitted a minority report. It states that the minority of the committee had carefully investigated the case and come to the conclusion that of the votes counted for Messrs. Bensal and Alexander nine were illegal and four of doubtful character, but not so clearly doubtful as to warrant the committee in reporting them illegal. Of the votes counted for Messrs. Bellinger and Carlile, five were illegal. If those votes were thrown out the result would have been as follows: Alexander would have 530 votes, Bensal 524, Bellinger, 516, Carlile 516, and the sitting members would, therefore rightfully retain their seats.

Mr Cox, Democrat, moved to indefinitely postpone action on the report, and his motion was seconded, but the second was subsequently withdrawn and so the motion fell. The report was then laid on the table.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Notice was given to amend the law relating to Senatorial and Representative districts.

Mr Chapman introduced a bill to repeal section 3 of chapter 23 of the General Laws, and to provide for the election of a board of visiting physicians to the Insane Asylum. Also a bill to reduce rates of pilotage at the mouth of the Columbia river and to establish a powerful steam tug. It provides that a board of contracting commissioners therein created shall contract with responsible parties for a powerful steam tug, and to pay for its services $10,000 the first year, $6,000 the second and $3,000 the third. Also, a bill for licensing soliciting agents, drummers, etc. It provides that all such persons shall be considered as hawkers, that they shall pay a license fee of $1,000, and upon conviction of violating the law, a fine of $2,000. The petitioners for such a law could scarcely expect anything more effective in keeping "drummers" out of the State than this.

THE CONTESTED CASE AGAIN.

On motion of Mr Cox, the report of the Committee on the Benton county contest was taken from the table. Mr Minto moved that both reports be printed. On this motion a long discussion ensued in which there were several pointed passages between the members composing the majority and the minority of the committee. The Democratic members, generally, who spoke on the question opposed the motion on the ground of expense and because it would postpone final action for two or three weeks. They said they supposed the committee had been appointed expressly to investigate the case and to report conclusions to save the House the trouble of doing it. Neither of the reports contained any particle of evidence upon which the conclusions of the committee were based, and in view of this, the Republicans mostly favored printing that all might read it and be enabled to vote understandingly. There were some features of this discussion that were a little odd. They revealed the fact that most of the Democratic members, however ignorant of the facts, were just as ready to vote as any amount of investigation could possibly make them. They were particularly anxious to do exact justice, but declaimed against the means of getting such information as only could enable them to judge justly between the parties. Not more than a very few had read the depositions or learned of their contents save by general hearsay. Yet all opposed the printing, and there was an evident desire that the evidence should not become public property. It was just as evident long before this discussion ended, as after the final vote on the adoption of the report, that there would be a party vote to put Mr Bensal out and Mr Bellinger in, and the discussion and the show of fairness in granting a form of trial was so palpably farcical as to be more amusing than vexatious. The vote was finally reached and the motion to print was lost by 13 yeas to 27 nays.

Mr Cox moved the adoption of the report. Mr Minto said he hoped the House would wait to consider the legal questions involved relative to the rights of the voters attacked in the contest, and to hear the evidence. Mr Cox made some remarks relative to the votes cast by employees of the government, indicating the idea subsequently taken up by several other speakers that an employee of the government was necessarily not a voter. This matter was frequently spoken of as though when a man was convicted of being an employee of the government, there could be no other question as to the illegality of his vote. One or two of the Democratic members who certainly know that a man may be an employee of the government and a legal voter were careful to avoid saying so and without actually supporting the false position assumed by Mr Cox to leave the impression on the minds of the hearers that the position was unanswerable. The disposition on the part of many of the Democrats to exclude the evidence from the House and to rely solely on the conclusion of the majority of the committee became palpably evident in the course of this discussion. They raised all sorts of objections—it would take a week or two weeks or three weeks to read the evidence, to send for and hear witnesses would cost fabulous amounts of money and trouble, would delay the legitimate business of the session, etc., etc. Col Chapman moved to recommit the case. Bellinger said rather than have the case go back to the committee he would agree to waive the introduction of all oral testimony. Dr Bayley, counsel for Mr Bensal, said he wanted the House to hear all the oral testimony as well as the written. Mr Chapman withdrew his motion to recommit. Mr Gazley renewed it. Mr Bayley made some remarks when Col Chapman raised the point of order that counsel, not a member, had no right to make remarks on primary motions, and the Speaker ruled that the counsel could not speak except on the submission of the case. Mr Gazley's motion was lost by a party vote. The reading of the evidence was finally begun, under the understanding that only the depositions relating to votes upon the legality of which the two reports differed should be read, that only such testimony as was before the Committee should be presented to the House and finally that oral testimony should be excluded. The depositions were read. Most of them on both sides left the question of legality of votes attacked just where they found them. For instance the vote of [illegible] was attacked by Bellinger on the ground of [illegible]. The depositions [illegible] the affairs knew nothing [illegible]. The majority report however treated his vote as illegal.

When the counsel had submitted their arguments and the Speaker stated the [illegible] on the adoption of the report [illegible] sought to have a vote taken on each of [illegible] votes for the contestant. The Democrats however opposed this and wanted to lump them [illegible] off together. One Democrat said that he could not [illegible] each one as he had kept no account [illegible] which he deemed illegal and those he [illegible] thought he knew well enough he [illegible] in the aggregate, as much as to say he had not counted the illegal votes but he knew perfectly well how many there were in the total. This was just about the situation of a very [illegible] the [illegible] of Democratic members. They knew that the report threw out enough Republican votes to oust Bensal, and they kept their eyes steadily on that fact and went straight to [illegible] the adoption of that report. The vote was taken, Democrats all voting aye and Republicans all voting nay. BY TELEGRAPH.

FROM THE CAPITAL

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Oregon Legislature.

SALEM, Sept. [illegible]. In the House C. H. Bellinger, the lucky contestant from Benton county, was sworn in and took his seat.

The Committee on Commerce was instructed to inquire into and report concerning the fees of pilots on the Columbia river.

The House concurred in the Senate joint resolution complimenting Gen. Crook and inviting him to visit Salem as the guest of the State. In the course of the discussion, Col Chapman paid a high tribute to Gen. Harney, saying that he inaugurated the Indian policy pursued by Gen. Crook, and was only prevented from settling the Indian troubles permanently many years ago by being relieved of command in our district.

Mr Cox introduced a bill defining lawful causes for divorce.

Mr Gray introduced a bill to define as the boundary line between Umatilla and Grant counties the mountain divide, survey head waters and tributaries of John Day and Columbia rivers.

Mr Minto introduced a bill to afford additional protection [illegible] burying grounds; referred.

Mr Chapman's memorial concerning Salt Lake, Columbia, Portland and Puget Sound Railroad was adopted. After long and interesting discussion, two or three Eastern members rallied forth and struck out of the memorial so as to make it ask for a road direct from the Columbia river to Puget Sound. Col. Chapman and others made strong speeches against amending the memorial, and the amendment failed. The vote on its adoption was unanimous.

Mr Gazley's railroad memorial was taken up, discussed and referred to a special committee for amendment.

Message from the Governor in response to resolutions of inquiry was referred to the School Land Commissioners for information concerning agricultural college lands.

Resolution adopted asking for payment of mileage for members.

In the Senate a new Committee on Railroads was created: Miller of Jackson county, Ison and Adams.

The Senate adopted a joint resolution ordering 600 copies of the Governor's message and accompanying documents and passed a bill amendatory of the law regulating descent of real property as to husband and tenure by curtsey and bill regulating enclosures.

STATE ITEMS

Crops are remarkably good in all the counties east of the Cascade mountains.

Dr Robinson, of Jacksonville, intends removing to Oakland, California.

On the 19th instant, the steamer from the Dalles landed 100 Chinamen at Umatilla.

The last of the machinery for the Woolen Factory at Ashland, Jackson county, has arrived.

The Unionist says that if the law cannot expel [illegible] from Salem [illegible] ought to.

The smoke has been very dense for several days on the Columbia east of the Cascade mountains.

Two nuggets of gold were found on Applegate creek last week weighing respectively 69 and 42 ounces.

We are informed that the Columbian Press has suspended publication, its efforts to live having proved abortive.

Fifteen Chinese left Jackson county last week for the flowery kingdom taking with them $50,000 in gold, the product of the mines.

B. P. Cardwell has taken the place formerly occupied by Jos. Pinkham as agent of the Pioneer Stage Co. at Umatilla. Mr Pinkham has removed to Idaho.

A Jacksonville paper says: We hear that Mr Deskins, of Rock Point, discharged a teamster last week, and the fellow poisoned three of his late employer's horses to get even.

The Sentinel says that the only "bloated bond holder" in Jackson county is a blatant Copperhead who has turned about $30,000 of Oregon war scrip into U. S. securities and is living off the income.

A burglar attempted to enter the house of Messrs. Pool & Sherman at Umatilla on the morning of the 20th. He was heard by the inmates and did not succeed in affecting an entrance.

A child of J. M. Ward's at Umatilla, about 15 or 18 months old, was found hanging in the upper crack of a board fence a few days since. It had climbed up and put its head through the crack when its feet slipped and left it hanging in the manner described. When found life was quite extinct.

Says the Sentinel: Last week, the wife of W. Parker, on Poorman's creek, met with a singular and nearly fatal accident. She was about to correct one of her children—a girl of about thirteen—who had a large pocket knife in her hand. The child naturally threw up her hand to ward off the blow, and the point of the knife entered her mother's arm, cutting the radial artery badly. Some awkward attempts were made to stop the hemorrhage, and when the physician arrived the poor woman had nearly bled to death. She was attended by Dr. Overbeck, who now reports her out of danger.

We have this morning conflicting accounts of a very serious and bloody disturbance in Georgia. In reading the statements made it must be remembered, however, that the telegraph lines are wholly in the hands of the rebels who do not scruple to use them to make out every case in their own favor. But even from these dispatches it is apparent that the rebels are in the fault. In the Georgia Legislature there is a large "Democratic" majority and they voted down a resolution to call on the President for a force to keep the peace. They also contemptuously rejected the message of the Governor relating to the same subject. This alone shows clearly enough that it is their political friends who are inciting these outrages.

Vigorous Vitality.—The best defense against disease is a vigorous vitality. Disease is simply a struggle between the life-power and the invisible enemies that assail it, and the result depends upon the relative strength of the antagonistic principles. In proportion to the vigor and energy of the physique and the constitution is their capacity to resist and fight off the morbid influences which produce sickness. It is a well known fact that active poisons affect in different degrees the weak and the strong. The dose of opium or of arsenic that will suffice to kill a child will scarcely sicken a stalwart man. It is the same with the aerial poisons which produce epidemic and endemic fevers, dysenteries, fluxes and the like. Their effect upon the system depends upon its power of resistance. Augment therefore this resistant power if you would escape these evils. The tonic agent necessary to effect this object has been provided in

THE CHRONICLES.

And it came to pass in the third year of the reign of George the Third who was ruler over the land of Web-foot that the news went throughout all the land that KOHN & FISHEL at No. 91 Front street Portland were selling Dry Goods and Clothing at fabulously low prices and all the people heard it and they straightway [illegible] unto that place and when they had demanded the [illegible] at KOHN & FISHEL'S store they marveled and [illegible]. The half has not been told us for here we can buy all kinds of Clothing and Dry Goods for ourselves [illegible] wives and our little ones much cheaper than at any other place in all the land of Webfoot. And from that day even until now the people have come in great numbers to buy their goods of KOHN & FISHEL.

[illegible] ITEMS.—The O. S. N. Co.'s brick buil[illegible] a new coat of cement. The old one [illegible] and showed a bad job or poor [illegible] and their deputies are engaged in captu[illegible] the thousand bills of our city which [illegible] been a terror to those who were endeavoring [illegible] shade trees and shrubbery. Keep your cows at [illegible] Goldsmith Bros. removed a safe, weighing five [illegible] from their former place of business on [illegible] to their new quarters on First street. ...The new brick [illegible] of H. Failing is nearly complete. It is a [illegible] ornament. ...The P. T. Co.'s [illegible] some time on the dry dock at Oregon City [illegible] repairs has been launched, and will soon [illegible] the Willamette in splendid condition [illegible] on the Willamette [illegible] for this city on last Fri[illegible] left San Francisco [illegible] County Assessor Dolan is going into the [illegible] at East Portland. ...About [illegible] left this city on Monday morning for the [illegible] the Columbia bars. They were under the [illegible] Kan & Co... The Democracy are laying [illegible] big time next Saturday [illegible] The [illegible] Association will soon issue a [illegible] setting forth the rules and objects of the [illegible] ...Business on our st[illegible] next week. Many teams were in from the country [illegible] was lively. Many people were out enjoying the fine weather.

TOBACCO DEALERS.—Under the United States [illegible] every person who deals in tobacco [illegible] as cigars, snuff, etc., is liable to a tax of [illegible] on all annual sales of less than $1,000, and [illegible] tional tax of two dollars on each [illegible] Every person who keeps a hotel or [illegible] and in connection [illegible] with sells [illegible] within the pr[illegible] is deemed a dealer in the [illegible] of the law and is subject to the tax. All [illegible] are required to return to the District [illegible] of the stock on hand at the end of each and every [illegible] this law took effect on the first day of A[illegible] The Assistant Assessor is now [illegible] dealers in this city, and we thus state [illegible] of the law that parties may be [illegible] with its terms. It seems to us that the [illegible] returns will certainly be a source of [illegible] dealers here and that, in fact, it is more than [illegible] required to meet the demands of [illegible] enactment, and the [illegible] here have [illegible] further to do with it than to see that it is [illegible] out.

A LIVELY TOWN.—The [illegible] at Green River City, [illegible] description of that lively town. [illegible] miles south of South Pass City, and is [illegible] population of 6,000 [illegible] large [illegible] There are two hurdy-gurdy houses [illegible] girls who have monopolized the [illegible] the girls in that peculiar [illegible] prize rings and tumble fighting, and all [illegible] rough, turbulent life prevails day and [illegible] comfortable [illegible] clothing [illegible] if not commonly [illegible] and good order [illegible] public safety or law around here.

VALUABLE INVENTION.—Mr. A. C. Stowe, of San [illegible] skillful workman in wood or iron, has [illegible] contrivance for equalizing the strain upon car[illegible] from any sudden jolt, or from any ex[illegible] upon one spring. By Mr Stowe's [illegible] all of the springs alike. With it [illegible] upon the carriage from driving over [illegible] upon the spring, no [illegible] may be placed, must be [illegible] The simplicity of the arrangement [illegible] utility, cannot fail to bring it into [illegible] application for a [illegible]

THE [illegible] was repeated at the new [illegible] and as the troupe has [illegible] stage, the acting was in some [illegible] first rendering of this beautiful [illegible] always sustains his reputation as an [illegible] actor and Mrs Bates certainly [illegible] in the character of Julia. Miss Young is at [illegible] in the part of [illegible] would feel recreant to our [illegible] talented troupe did we not [illegible] We trust the citizens of Portland will [illegible] their patronage to this excellent [illegible] The prosperity of the city will [illegible] their stay among us.

HOME BASE BALL.—We yesterday saw the [illegible] won by the Clackamas Club [illegible] at the [illegible] Fair last fall. It is a very fine [illegible] of Oregon wood plated with Oregon silver, and [illegible] with the tusk of a walrus from Alaska. The silver [illegible] by the Oregon State Agricultural [illegible] last fall the Clackamas Club have [illegible] the Pioneer [illegible] who were first then, and now the [illegible] Club [illegible] to enter the lists. We learn that [illegible] ably challenge all the Clubs in Oregon and W[illegible] Territory.

A FINE MESS of ducks [illegible] table [illegible] while we were out. We were [illegible] that [illegible] intended for Capt. C., but he was out too. [illegible] lately are not blessed with such an [illegible] family table, which might be [illegible] back and so offered them to the [illegible] but he [illegible] but he [illegible] So they will [illegible] to the appetite of [illegible] is the benevolent individual [illegible] prompted him to remember the [illegible]

MILITARY.—We learn that Col. A. B. [illegible] of the D[illegible] has been relieved from his duties at this post and [illegible] report at New Orleans. His place here will be supplied by Col. Hodges, who is now at Fort [illegible] court-martial for the trial of some [illegible] Col. Hodges will [illegible] the duties of Chief Q[illegible] immediately upon his [illegible] Col. [illegible] made many friends on the P[illegible] and his [illegible] will be regretted.

[illegible]—Yesterday [illegible] the dark [illegible] dense fogs which for two [illegible] have [illegible] this section of the country [illegible] the sun from a clear blue sky [illegible] to have a tendency to give [illegible] and the [illegible] but settled seriousness on [illegible]

[illegible]—Mr A. G. W[illegible] has on his farm [illegible] trees of the [illegible] a fruit the superior of which we have not tasted [illegible] A sample left at this office was [illegible] of a delicious flavor and withal solid and [illegible] of decay. Mr W. thinks the variety [illegible] bear [illegible] very well.

THE VICTORIA.—The [illegible] is becoming quite a favorite with the [illegible] Her last trip to Victoria via [illegible] was a [illegible] voyage to her [illegible] She will sail to-[illegible] morning at nine o'clock, for Victoria, [illegible]

PRINTED ADDRESS.—The address of Hon. W. [illegible] pamphlet of eight pages, has been sent [illegible] the Mech[illegible] at the opening of the Sixth In[illegible] and is quite an able production.

[illegible]—The fires [illegible] woods have not been confined to Oregon and W[illegible] Territory. By the Victoria papers we learn [illegible] property upon Vancouver [illegible] by the same [illegible]

[illegible] DEHOUNE [illegible] his feat of [illegible] Front street yesterday afternoon [illegible] of a large number of [illegible] at Union Hall attract a good deal of [illegible] said to be very wonderful.

DETAINED.—The Dalles boat did not [illegible] her wharf until about eight o'clock last night. We did not learn the cause of her detention but [illegible] the fog [illegible] disappeared from her route.

THE STEAMER Oriflamme had not arrived up to time of going to press. She is due from San F[illegible] and will probably arrive to-day.

DENTIST.

OFFICE—Southwest corner Front and Yamhill Streets, opposite E J Northrup & Co.'s Hardware Store

I am now making, amongst numerous other styles of ARTIFICIAL TEETH, the improved Vulcanite Plates of Dr G W Cool's Patent, patented Dec. 3, 186[illegible], the improvement of which consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold, it not only makes the plate double as strong and cleanlier than the common Vulcanite Plate It also can by it be made considerably thinner and lighter, whereas the price is but little above that for common plates. Call and and see specimens

N B.—Dentists wishing to secure the office right for Dr G W Cool's Improved Vulcanite Plates can have it made out to them by applying to this office.

N B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the office

I was so poor

Only a thr ne th ugh w ll i w ree lher w s—
H r l th s g e d e l f
So in great charity finding naught else for me,
She gave herself

Time best can show how rich the gift will grow—
I took her name,
And now there s nothing known or treasured to not own
And may not claim

There s none to share—there scrvery thl g t spare
I am so grand
That I can pay earth-rates with tithes f great esta e
In wonder-land

My ancestry was proud and fate may be
Will find an heir
Meanwhile in my state-robe I travel earthe g be
And pay no fare.

My fairy s wan l bears me at her command
Past afternoon,
Where day with night agrees I greet their majesties
The sun and moon

Or isles that are where seas, lonely and far
H ard all the sky
I find ; and I forget earth is not heaven yet,
It seems so nigh

If I am sad my fairy makes me glad
Where er she will ;
She finds all life has lost she pays all life has cost,
And lulls grief still

She sings a song sometimes It is not long—
I know the words
I think she learned the tune when April came too soon,

The Truth about Grant's Last Campaigns.

[From the N Y. Sun, Aug. 25.]

(The writer of the following article is Charles A Dana who was assistant Secretary of War at the time of Grant s Virginia campaign)

Since the nomination of Gen Grant for the Presidency, our contemporary, the World, seems to be never weary of exalting the rebel General Lee at his expense. In justification of this unpatriotic course, it has made a statement of the respective forces and losses of the two Generals during the closing campaigns of the war, which is incorrect in every particular It says

The following figures, which we have before published, are f m "from the morning rolls of both armies and they will not be im by any one who prefers the truth of history

Grant, on assuming command, May 4 1864 had of effective men when he crossed the Rapidan, 125,000

Lee, at the same date, had an effective force of 52 000

Grant's reinforcements up to the battle of Cold Harbor June 3, were 97,000

Lee's reinforcements up to the same date were 18 000.

Grant s total force, including reinforcements, was 222 000

Lee's total force, including reinforcements, was 70 000.

Returns to their respective Governments showed that when both armies had reached the James, June 10 the [illegible] of Grant's army that had been put hors du combat [illegible] 117,000;

Up to the same date, the number of Lee's men who had been put hors du combat was 19,000

Grant had more than three men for every one that Lee had 222,000 to 70,000

Grant lost more than six men for every one that Lee lost; 117,000 to 19,000

Grant lost as many men as all Lee had and 12 000 over [illegible] many more; 117 000 to 70 000

Grant, having in the first instance more than twice as many men as Lee (125,000 to 52,000) yet had to be reinforced by more men than all Lee ever had 97 000 to 70,000

The "morning rolls of both armies" give no such figures. The official returns of the Army of the Potomac for the 20th of April, 1864 now on file in the Adjutant General's office at Washington, show present and equipped for duty on that day 72 117 infantry and 9,747 cavalry. Burnside's corps, which joined Grant in the Wilderness, was 19,250 strong in [illegible], a [illegible] of 3,095 colored troops, which took no other part in [illegible] than [illegible] to guard the trains. De [illegible] from the estimate [illegible] Grant's army with 17,155 men for duty and gives the Army of the Potomac a grand aggregate of 98,810 men for duty. This does not include the addition of Wilmington, nor the force operating in West Virginia, nor Butler's army, which, as it did not join Grant till he reached the Chickahominy, should not be counted in the comparison of strength at the beginning of the campaign. Nor does it include Tyler's division of heavy artillery, armed and used as infantry, between 7,000 and 8,000 strong, nor that part of the Nineteenth Corps, under Emory, which [illegible] from Louisiana, and joined Sheridan in the Valley; and after the expulsion of the rebels from northern Virginia, were sent to [illegible] to Sherman.

So far, then, from Grant having had 125,000 effective men when he crossed the Rapidan besides the reserve, he had less than 100 000 His reinforcements after the battle of the Wilderness [illegible] Tyler's division, 8 900, which joined him at Spottsylvania, the Eighteenth Corps, 20,000 strong, from Butler's army, which joined at Cold Harbor; and some single new regiments and detachments of recruits, which were employed to fill up the thinned ranks. All these reinforcements, however, instead of amounting to 97,000, as the World alleges, were not more than 55,000

Lee's field return for the 20th of April, 1864 shows present for duty, armed and equipped 54 891, exclusive of Longstreet's corps, which joined him a few days later and took an active part in all the [illegible] operations Longstreet s return for the same date, properly attested, shows 18 387 present for duty, making Lee's aggregate present, armed and equipped for duty, 72 278 and not 52,000 as stated in the World The total present, including the men reported sick, in arrest, and on extra duty, is given by the same returns at 88,143.

These returns do not include a report of the forces operating under Beauregard, Hill, and Hoke on the south side of the James, for the defence of Richmond and Petersburg, nor those of Breckinridge in the Valley Hoke's division is stated by himself at 7,000 men and officers present for duty, at the same date. No [illegible] of Beauregard's forces or of the militia (including the great number of clerks and civil employees of the rebel Government) holding the Richmond and Petersburg works can be given, but it is no exaggeration to place the former at 15,000 men, and the latter at 10,000 men. The force in the Valley district may be estimated at 10,000 more. The movable part of Lee's entire army, excepting [illegible], but including Beauregard, Hill and [illegible] reinforced by all the troops that could be spared from Charleston and Savannah, was concentrated at Petersburg, and, from the foregoing [illegible], could not have been less than 90,000 [illegible], and more likely it exceeded that number than fell short of it.

In regard to Lee's [illegible], it must not be forgotten that during the last year of the war the rebel [illegible] put forth every effort to gather up all [illegible] and to concentrate their [illegible] Lee surrendered 27,416 men at Appomattox Court House, 22,079 were captured in battle during the ten days previous, while at least 12,000 were killed and wounded during the same time and 10,000 more deserted on the road from Petersburg to Appomattox Unfortunately the [illegible] cannot be verified, as no reports were ever [illegible] of Lee's final movements; but they are not far from the truth, and show that Lee's [illegible] force at the end was not short of 70,000 men. His field returns show that on the 28th of February, 1865, he had 73,349 men present [illegible] for duty—without counting the [illegible] of Petersburg and Richmond or [illegible] river. These forces [illegible] fights, and to the [illegible] of fortifications

If these figures are correct, and there is no doubt that they are as nearly so as they can be [illegible], the efforts of the rebel Government during the last year of the war to fill the ranks of the army were attended by no inconsiderable success. It is certain that when the final collapse took place, the entire white male population of the rebel States, between the ages of 17 and 60 years, was under arms, serving either as volunteers or militia, and it is equally certain that Lee had received his fair proportion of all the troops.

The next question is that of the losses of the two armies. The regimental returns of the Army of the Potomac, now on file in the Adjutant General's office at Washington, together with a carefully prepared estimate of the casualties in the Army of the James and Burnside's corps, show Grant's losses, up to the crossing of the James, including those of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania North Anna, Cold Harbor, and all the smaller combats between the Rapidan and the James to have been 7 289 killed 37,406 wounded and 9 796 missing, total, 54 491 and not 117 000 or the half of it, as stated by the World Of these it is fair to estimate that at least 25,000 being only slightly wounded, returned to duty before the end The missing were all, or nearly all prisoners but as Grant captured during the same time 10 162 prisoners not counting those taken by Butler) this account is considerably in his favor His actual losses from the Rapidan to the James did not exceed, at the outside 25 000 men From the crossing of the James to the beginning of the final movement toward Five Forks, as we know from actual returns and official reports, our losses were 3 650 killed, 19 360 wounded, 16 224 missing total 39 234 From the beginning of the final movement to the surrender of Lee a liberal estimate, compiled from partial returns and approximations gives 1 622 killed 7,686 wounded and 368 missing From which it will be seen that the aggregate of all the losses incurred by the armies under Grant s command, from the crossing of the Rapidan to the surrender of Lee at Appomattox Court House, is 12,561 killed 61 452 wounded and 26 398 missing of the wounded at least 50 000 returned to duty leaving for the actual loss 53 110 men of whom less than one quarter were killed

There are no trustworthy rebel returns from which Lee s losses can be given for this period, but in view of the fact that during the battles of the Wilderness he was as much exposed as Grant, and was so severely handled that he studiously maintained a defensive attitude thenceforth except against small detachments) ingeniously avoiding to accept battle on open ground, although invited to do so almost daily for an entire year, it is fair to assume that his list of killed, wounded and prisoners in the Wilderness must have been quite equal to Grant s, or say 25 000 in round numbers and this of itself is 6 000 more than is given by the World for the entire loss up to the crossing of the James During the rest of the campaign his losses were doubtless less than Grant s, since in every case he fought behind intrenchments but in view of all the circumstances they were not disproportionately small

From the foregoing it will be seen that Grant did not cross the Rapidan with 125 000 men besides the reserve " as stated by the World, his real force being 98 810 men that Lee at the same date had 72 000 present for duty, instead of 52 000 and that there is no ground whatever for the statement that Grant s reinforcements up to the battle of Cold Harbor amounted to 97 000 while Lee s were only 18 000 (This force, Longstreet's corps, joined Lee in the Wilderness) Neither is it true that Grant s total force reached 222 000 or over at any time nor did it exceed 100 000 much less that Lee s including reinforcements did not exceed 70 000

The rest of the World s assertions such as that Grant had three men to Lee s one that he lost six men to Lee s one and that he began with two to his one and received more reinforcements than Lee s entire army being based altogether upon figures which we have thus shown to be erroneous of course fall to the ground with them Grant defeated Lee not by overwhelming him by numbers but by good generalship and immovable resolution, and is entitled to full credit for his achievement.

EXTINGUISHER
SELF-ACTING FIRE ENGINE!

THIS INVENTION HAS FOR ITS OBJECT THE extinguishing of Fires in a more instantaneous manner than has hitherto been discovered
The advantages to be derived from the use of the EXTINGUISHER are as follows
Every fire begins on a small scale and its rapid and uncontrollable increase is owing to the fact that at the time of its commencement (when every moment's delay in checking it is of the utmost importance) no means are ready at hand
The EXTINGUISHER is the only Engine that fills this requirement
It is always ready for use though standing unused for years
It puts out Fire instantly
It saves the great deluge of water now used for this purpose
It is as effective in the hands of a Boy as the most experienced Fireman
It is portable and as easily handled as a bucket of water
It possesses within itself the power of a force pump and as effective as a Steam Engine
It is the only known invention that will put out Fires from Kerosene, Tar, Naphtaline, and combustible materials now in common use

THESE WHEELS EXCEL ANY OTHER WHEEL in use, and are no infringement on the Leffel American Turbine, but excel it in every particular

CAUTION.
To all whom it may concern —One A Myers is publishing and circulating a statement that my wheel is an infringement on the Leffel wheel and he will "prosecute said infringement to the utmost extent of the Law " His statements are not worth a denial His game is "Bluff," which, if he would only take the case to Court, would soon be played out Don t believe him
I would be glad to get a case into the United States Court and get a decision That would forever stop the mouth of Myers and his misrepresentations The legal opinions of more reputable lawyers than Dodge & Munn and A Myers have pronounced my patents no infringement on the American Turbine.
